nAdd a Filter EffectnAdd a Motion BlendingnPlace some cool animated text Smoke ScreenSmoke is an effect that adds an illusion of smoke or fog over a camera. The depth of the effect is controlled by a variable. The quality of the effect is determined by the type of camera you have. The more sophisticated the camera, the sharper the effect. Red Eye LightnRed Eye Light is a good light for helping to remove the red eye effect. If you want the pupil of the eye to stand out, you should use a hot white light with a high exposure and set the Alpha to 0. PixelationnPixelation is an effect that adds a gradual blur to the picture. It can be used as a background, or simply as an effect over a picture. It is also available as a preset for AE CS5. A great collection of effects from Red Giant and Digital Fusion Effects Blur Our Focal Blur is a kind of a slow and subtle blur. It is good for creating a dreamy or atmospheric look. There are three types of the blur: Linear, Dome, and Inner Spherical.Q: Where to find documentation about backend as a service (BaaS) architecture? I want to explore the concept of backend as a service. A friend told me to look into Google Cloud and Docker, but I found it really difficult to find useful information about backend as a service. Do you know where I can find a good introduction about backend as a service and it's implications on the architecture? A: I've also been struggling with this, and have asked a question on SO about it: If you read that and have follow-up questions, feel free to ask!
